

Gary Tou is currently serving Washington FBLA as the West Central Region Vice President and is a senior at Hazen High School. Over the past four years in FBLA, he has served in multiple leadership positions such as chapter President and was awarded Member of the Month for his work and dedication. Ever since getting involved, Gary believes that organizations like FBLA prepare youths with the skills necessary to excel in school and the workplace. Gary is excited about what the future of our organization and members hold.

Outside of FBLA, Gary is involved with many other organizations such as Hack Club, TEDxYouth@Seattle, DECA, and Washington Business Week. Through his participation in various student-led organizations, Gary was inspired by the potential and dedication of the youths around him. Combined with his love for computer science, he co-founded synHacks; a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization centered around empowering passionate youth to tackle current global issues through computer science. When these organizations are not on his mind, Gary can often be found enjoying programming, web development, and photography. His goal is to study and pursue a career in Computer Science and Business to help him launch his own tech company in the future.

Gary is extremely thankful and thrilled for the opportunity to serve Washington FBLA and can't wait for you to connect with him!
